

Living Costs Steady

April Level Same As March High

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of living remained unchanged during April at its record March level, the Labor Department said today. The consumer price index remained at 106.2 per cent of the average for 1957-59. This was one per cent above the level of April, 1962.

The figure means it costs $10.62 now to buy what $10 would buy a year ago in the average family's budget.

Ewan Clague, director of the bureau of Labor Statistics, said that a reduction in prices for food and gasoline during April was offset by price increases for housing, used cars, newspapers and clothing.

Prices for meat, poultry and fish dropped 2.4 per cent during April to the lowest level since 1957.

Clague said this was mainly due to a dip in prices for beef and pork. Both went down 3.5 per cent.

So far, Clague said, there has been no major effect on the consumer price index from the soaring price of sugar. He said this price rise probably would have a gradual effect over a period of months.

Water Safety Chairman Is Selected

Walter A. Diehl, Sedalia school systems educator, was named, this week, as Pettis County American Red Cross water safety chairman, according to local Red Cross spokesmen.

The Pettis County office, in Sedalia, is still processing the individual registration cards of youngsters enrolled for the water safety instruction which begins, June 11, at Liberty Park and Hubbard public swimming pools.

Diehl, assistant principal at Smith-Cotton High School, has had previous experience with Red Cross swimming programs in Kansas. He came to Sedalia from Paola, Kan., where he served as a public school systems psychologist. In former years, he was a semi-pro baseball player.

Mrs. Maurice F. Hogan, in charge of water instruction for Red Cross, said that Diehl will replace Henry Sutton who resigned the position for reason of moving his residence from Sedalia. The Pettis County Red Cross board of directors confirmed Diehl's appointment and, at the same time, extended Sutton an expression of appreciation for his years of service in the Pettis County ARC water safety program. Nearly a thousand Pettis County young people received Red Cross water safety instruction, last summer, under this program.

Red Cross in Pettis County is supported by the annual Sedalia Pettis County United Fund effort and no change for water safety instruction is levied other than normal fees for use of the pool as in normal swimming periods.

Jimmie Lee Perkins Out on $30,000 Bond

MOBERLY, Mo. (AP)—Jimmie Lee Perkins, 41, convicted of second degree murder in the death of his wife's boy friend, was released on $30,000 bond Monday, pending an appeal to the Missouri Supreme Court.

Perkins had been held in the state prison. He left, presumably for Kansas City, after the hearing Monday.

He was convicted in the slaying of William W. Yeakey, 37.

Scrapped Car Falls On Kennett Youth

KENNETT, Mo. (AP)—A scrapped auto fell on a Kennett youth Monday and killed him. Jimmie Foster, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Foster, died of head injuries.

Authorities said the car slipped on a pile of old cars that Foster was working on at a Kennett junk yard.

Brushes Close to Death

Pope Passes Crisis Stage

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Death brushes close to Pope John XXIII today, but he weathered the crisis.

Persistent hemorrhaging left him in grave condition.

The Vatican disclosed he is suffering from gastric heteroplasia—a growth in the stomach. This could be a cancer or a tumor, either benign or malignant.

The diagnosis, published by the Vatican newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano, was the first specifically defining the illness of the 81-year-old Roman Catholic pontiff.

The dictionary definition of heteroplasia is formation of abnormal tissue or of normal tissue in an abnormal locality.

Through tense hours this morning, three doctors were at the Pope's bedside and worked to stem hemorrhaging, Vatican sources reported.

It was the worst crisis of the illness which felled him briefly last fall and has since recurred intermittently.

Medical personnel rushed in and out of the papal apartment.

It is possible the doctors have not determined the exact kind of growth involved. In the past, surgery had been considered for exploratory purposes—and been rejected as too dangerous for the pontiff because of his age and condition.

Until today, the Vatican had said only that the Pope had a stomach disorder.

L'Osservatore said the hemorrhages, "caused by the gastric heteroplasia, which has affected the Holy Father for about a year, after being arrested for several months, have had an accentuated resumption in recent days."

"They have now been attenuated, and the organic consequences linked to them are, through today, limited and compensated by the curative measures adopted," it added.

Aside from disclosing the growth, the statement also disclosed for the first time that the Pope had been ill for a year. Until now, his illness had been dated to last November.

The doctors were Piero Mazzoni of Rome, who has remained almost constantly at the apostolic palace for a week; Antonio Gasbarrini, the Pope's personal physician; and Pietro Valdoni, one of Italy's leading surgeons.

Mazzoni went to the Pope's bedside.

Outdoor Recreation Bill Inked By JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed today a bill to promote and develop outdoor recreation programs.

Congressional passage of the bill was described by the President as recognition "of the vital need to protect and wisely administer this nation's great heritage of outdoor recreation resources."

Signing the bill in his White House office, with about a dozen pens, the President noted that those about him had been instrumental in getting the bill through Congress. He gave one of the first pens to Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall, D-Colo.

Lamine Waters Recede

Flood waters of the Lamine River in the Clifton City area, which threatened to inundate crops Monday are receding. Flood stage is 19 feet and rain swelled waters to a 22 foot level Monday. However the water did not cross roads and boundaries into crop areas.

Sunday Sales Law Passed

Battered Bill to Dalton On a 29-3 Margin Vote

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A battered Sunday sales bill was passed by the Missouri Senate today 29-3.

The action sends the compromise version to the governor.

There was little objection voiced as the Senate approved the House passed version of the bill.

School Bus Issue 'Dead' This Session

Committee Kills Bill for Second Time Monday Night

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—State aid for parochial school buses appeared today to be a dead issue for the rest of the 1963 legislative session.

For a while it was the hottest issue in the Legislature. The proposal was killed for the second time Monday night by the House Committee on Constitutional Amendments on a 5-6 vote.

Then the committee approved a proposed constitutional change to legalize horse racing and at-the-track betting under state control. The plan would produce an estimated $4 million revenue for higher education, mental health and the state general revenue fund.

There was no comment from the committee as it killed the parochial school bus plan in a 25-minute closed door session. Both sides had their say at a jammed public hearing in the House chamber a week ago.

It was the second such proposal to be rejected by a House committee.

Earlier the Judiciary Committee killed a bill that would have allowed private and parochial school pupils to ride school buses supported with state aid.

The action raised a storm of protest. Some Catholic parents loaded their children on school buses and enrolled them in public schools for a few days to demonstrate their feelings. Others, mainly in the St. Louis area, registered their children for public school classes next fall.

Then Rep. Thomas A. Walsh, D-St. Louis, who is a Catholic, introduced a second proposal as a constitutional amendment to put the transportation of private and parochial students under the State Department of Public Health and Welfare.

This was the proposal voted down Monday night.

Holiday Closings

All service windows in the lobby of the post office will be closed Memorial Day. There will be no delivery of mail in the city or on rural routes. Special delivery mail will be delivered as usual. The regular holiday collection schedule will prevail from the street letter boxes, according to the postmaster.

All three Sedalia banks will be closed as will the majority of business places in the city.

In its final draft the bill sets out a long list of things that cannot be sold on Sundays. Its effect is to let grocery stores and drug stores stay open but to close discount houses, department stores, hardware stores and others.

The bill contains some built-in protections for resort areas.

Its passage followed a deluge of letters and telegrams from people demanding some kind of Sunday sales law after the Missouri Supreme Court last March knocked out the state's 138-year-old blue laws.

House Moves Catch-All Funds Bill

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The Missouri House advanced a catch-all appropriations bill today carrying a little over $1,200,000 in general revenue funds.

The bill had been reduced from $3.9 million, primarily by trimming funds for five State Park Board projects. All five—restoration work at the first state Capitol in St. Charles, the Graham cave area in Montgomery County, Watkins Mill Park in Clay County, Sullivan County Park and St. Francois County Park—would be supplied $50,000 each instead.

Only one change was made in the bill as it was approved May 2 by the Appropriations Committee. That would give Piedmont $10,000 in state aid toward a memorial airport. Airport aid also would go to Mountain View, Farmington, Warrensburg, Fulton, Branson, Butler, Moberly, St. Clair, Festus, Neosho and Mississippi County.

There is no money in the bill yet for the three intensive mental treatment centers planned at Kansas City, Columbia and St. Louis. Rep. John L. Fitzgerald, R-Jackson County, tried to add $9,694,850 for the centers.

But appropriations Chairman Paul Berra, D-St. Louis, said the money could be added later if the bill authorizing the centers passes both houses.

The House defeated a bill that would have forced the state to pay workmen's compensation for student nurses and volunteer workers at the state mental hospitals. They go to the hospitals for training and are not on the payroll, opponents said.

Monday the House generally was willing to pass or advance almost any bill. But a few times the members rebelled.

The representatives said they were tired of efforts to revive once-defeated legislation. It takes too much time in this waning session, they said.

SIGN ON FOR CHARTER FLIGHT—The fledgling organization of African unity has its charter signed by United Arab Republic's President Gamal Abdel Nasser, right, and Upper Volta's President Maurice Yameogo at the African Hall in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, May 26. Signing of the charter ended eight-hour closing session of the summit conference of 30 African chiefs of state. The organization is just in its paper stage and will remain so until at least two-thirds of the states ratify the charter. (AP Wirephoto by cable from Addis Ababa)

Urges Vets To Keep Open TB Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. William J. Randall, D-Mo., urged the Veterans Administration today to continue use of its Excelsior Springs, Mo., tuberculosis hospital instead of closing it July 31 as planned.

The congressman said a letter he received from the agency contained assurances that upon the closing Veterans Hospitals at Kansas City, Mo., and Wadsworth, Kan., would be capable of absorbing the patient load and there would be improvement in patient care.

Randall said he challenged the statement that there would be improvement in care of patients. He said a House committee which inspected the Excelsior Springs hospital about a year ago had observed patients were well cared for by well-trained personnel in pleasant surroundings.

As to the agency's reason for closing the hospital—it is obsolete and uneconomical to maintain—Randall said that less than a year ago the building was not obsolete for the purpose for which it was being used.

Kelly Quits As Chairman Of the GOP

Resignation Takes Effect On June 15

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—State Sen. James P. Kelly of Trenton will resign June 15 as Republican state chairman—the day he has called a meeting of the GOP State Committee to choose his successor.

Kelly said Monday only that "impending business arrangements and commitments" would prevent him from continuing as chairman. It has been reported he will become connected with a private school.

Kelly, 52, who has been state chairman since he succeeded Kenneth Wangelin of Poplar Bluff last year, is in the farm management business. He has been in the Senate since 1954 and a member of the GOP State Committee since 1956.

He said he thought a new chairman should be chosen immediately "since it now appears that Republican chances of success on the state level next year are better than in many years."

The Jackson County Republican Committee will meet tonight in Kansas City to discuss possible candidates to succeed Kelly.

W. O. Biffe, Jackson County chairman, said informal talks recently had brought forward the names of state Rep. William Phelps and Lem T. Jones Sr., Kansas City business executive.

A Kansas City television station (WDAP) said Biffe himself had been suggested as a possible candidate.

"As of now we have no one definite that we would submit at the state meeting June 15," Biffe said. "We will meet within the next week with the six state committee members from the 5th Congressional District to talk about it."

Teachers Union Strikes Public School System

GARY, Ind. (AP)—The 1,200-member Gary teachers union struck the city's 42 public schools today, but the system's 45,000 pupils remained in the classrooms for abbreviated sessions.

Supt. Alden Blankenship said picket lines were at most schools, but about 300 other teachers crossed them to report to their jobs.

The union set the strike after failing to win recognition from the school board as a bargaining agent.

No incidents were reported as the pickets, wearing black and white armbands, marched around the schools.

The union originally had set the strike for Monday but postponed it 24 hours after Mayor John S. Visclosky demanded that the five school board members resign or recognize the union.

The state labor commissioner, Hobart L. Butler, was sent to Gary by Gov. Matthew E. Welsh in an effort to settle the dispute.

The union, Local 4 of the American Federation of Teachers, contended it had been recognized by school boards as bargaining agent for its members for 25 years but said the present board had refused to follow that practice.

'No' To 'Open' School

Good Faith Of Officials Test Waited

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A federal judge refused today to order city schools integrated until the good faith of school officials has been tested.

U.S. Dist. Judge Seybourn H. Lynne warned the officials they must apply a state pupil placement law without discrimination. If the law is unconstitutionally applied, Lynne said he would "be compelled to order the submission of a desegregation plan."

Denying a requested injunction against segregated schools, Lynne ruled that Negro complainants in a 1960 suit had not exhausted remedies under the 1956 statute which gives school boards wide authority in assigning pupils to schools.

An appeal probably will be made to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court, said attorney Peter A. Hall, who represented one of the complainants.

Despite clear evidence of a segregated school system, Lynne said Supt. Theo R. Wright and board members had assured him they stood ready to comply with the law.

"This court will not sanction discrimination by them in the name of the placement law, but it is unwilling to grant injunctive relief until their good faith has been tested," Lynne held.

Adequate time remains before the fall term for the processing of assignment or transfer applications in behalf of interested individuals, he said.

Lynne ruled in the case of James Armstrong's four children. He dismissed from the same suit two other parents and threw out a 1962 suit of similar nature by the Rev. T. N. Nelson because their children no longer attended Birmingham schools.

Coast Guard Probe Ends Missing Ship

NEW YORK (AP)—A Coast Guard board of inquiry has ended 37 days of public hearings stymied in its effort to find out how the tanker Marine Sulphur Queen disappeared with 39 crewmen.

The ship, carrying molten sulphur, was last heard from on Feb. 4, off the coast of Florida in rough seas. There was no distress signal.

Rear Adm. James D. Craik, who headed the board of inquiry, said Monday that in the absence of any survivors or conclusive evidence the exact cause for the disappearance could not be ascertained.

He said the only conclusion that could be drawn was that the ship sank in or near the Straits of Florida. Study of evidence and testimony will continue.

The Marine Sulphur Queen sailed Feb. 2 from Beaumont, Tex., bound for Norfolk, Va. She was a converted tanker fitted with special tanks for sulphur, kept molten by steam pipes.

The testimony dwelt mainly on construction details of the ship and analysis of the debris found some time after she disappeared.

Laboratory reports said there was no indication of any fire or explosion. Specialists testified that molten sulphur is not normally considered dangerously explosive.

The testimony also considered whether there was a structural breakdown. The sulphur tanks were attached to the hull with bolts that slid back and forth to allow for expansion and contraction of the tanks as the temperature varied.

Cmdr. Albert S. Frevola, recorder of the inquiry board, noted that another sulphur tanker, not identified, experienced an "explosive-like report" last June 27 and its tanks bulged about 10 inches on each side.

Witnesses testified that the condition of Marine Sulphur Queen life-jackets found later indicated that some of the men may have left the ship alive. The jackets had been used, they said, and some were torn as if a shark had bitten them.

Thirty-seven witnesses testified here and in Beaumont, Tex.

Answers
Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I disagree with your reply to Deserter Mother. She was a nervous wreck because her about-to-be-married daughter wanted to walk down the aisle alone—as a symbolic slap in the face to her absent father who had skipped 17 years earlier.

You said there was no need to make a spectacle of herself and that it would only provide more grist for the gossip mill. You also added, "Why humiliate your mother in an attempt to punish your father—who probably couldn't care less?"

Well, I'm a mother who was faced with precisely the same problem and you are wrong wrong wrong I walked my daughter down the aisle myself. I then took my place in the front pew. When the minister asked, "Who giveth this woman?" I stood, faced the guests proudly and replied, "I do!"

My three brothers would have been glad to perform the honors but why should they have been asked? I raised the girl myself and she was MINE to give away. It was, I might add, the happiest moment of my entire life.—NO PHONY.

Dear No Phony: The about-to-be bride described in the first letter was bitter young girl whose hostility would have spoiled the wedding and hurt her mother.

YOUR letter reflects an even more savage bitterness and hostility. What you refer to as the happiest moment of your entire life was a moment of revenge.

Dear Ann Landers: I belong to a club with 17 other secretaries and the problem about which I am writing is a surprisingly common one. The boss' wife. She waltzes into the office almost every day, ignores closed doors, breaks in on private conferences, sits herself down and acts as if she is Chairman of the Board. This is terribly annoying because I'm supposed to take down everything said at these conferences and when she butts in I'm never sure if I should record her remarks.

Some days she just struts around the office, reads over our shoulders, shuffles through papers on our desks and noses through the file cabinets.

What baffles me is that this woman should know better because she was once a secretary—in fact, she had MY job, which is how she got the boss to divorce his wife and marry her.

Why doesn't she have brains enough to stay home?—ANNOY-ED.

Dear Annoyed: She sounds like a brass-plated beauty but maybe she's afraid history will repeat itself and she's down there to make certain it doesn't.

Dear Ann Landers: We are delighted with our new daughter-in-law. She and our son graduated from college last fall and they live about 200 miles from here.

They both work and have a lovely apartment with all new furniture. My husband and I are very eager to go visit them and see their little place which they have described in detail. Of course we plan to stay in a hotel since they have only one bedroom, so that is not the question.

What we want to know is this: Should we wait for them to invite us, or should we write and tell them we are coming? My husband says since we will stay in a hotel we need not wait to be invited.

Our relationship with the new daughter-in-law is so good I would hate to do anything that might hurt it. My instincts tell me to wait until a specific invitation is issued. What do you say?—MRS. CAREFUL.

Dear Mrs.: Your instincts are

Spraying Pastures Can Be Practical in Weed Control

By MERLE VAUGHAN
Extension Director

If you have permanent pastures then you almost certainly have weeds in these pastures. If so then I am relatively sure that you do think about spraying as a means of weed control.

Actually weed control in pastures cannot be accomplished as effectively as in cultivated crops. In the first place many so called weeds are palatable and nutritious at certain stages and secondly it is not easy to spray a pasture and kill the weeds without doing damage to the desirable ones. It is especially difficult to kill many broad leaved weeds without killing the highly desirable legumes in the pasture mixture.

In spite of these problems, however, some pasture spraying is practical and will help control some weeds that mowing will not destroy.

Annual weeds such as Ragweed, Cocklebur, and some biennials, such as docks and Bull Thistle can be controlled with applications of 3/4 - 1 pound acid equivalent of an amino form of 2,4-D. Lespedeza and white clover will usually withstand such a treatment.

Buck brush is often a problem in pastures. It is not possible to control it by spraying without serious damage to legumes. However, many prefer spraying the buck brush and reseeding the desired legumes. Sometimes you can use the heavier applications only where the buck brush is the worst. One and one-half to two pounds of acid equivalent per acre of an ester form of 2,4-D.

right. Wait for an invitation. You'll be glad you did.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

25 per cent of all the disability accidents involved animals while less than 15 per cent were associated with farm machinery.

More accidents occurred in the summer (39 per cent) compared with 28 per cent in the fall, 21 per cent in the spring, and only 12 per cent in winter.

Surprisingly enough the largest percentage of accidents took place in the yard.

Fewer disability accidents occurred in the yard and house than in other places, however.

Only 26 per cent of the disability accidents were around the home premises, while 40 per cent were on the farm and 34 per cent were off the farm. Most of the disability accidents off the farm occurred on roads and highways.

Mrs. Shirley Tells Club of Planning Meals

Meal planning was the subject of the lesson by Mrs. E. E. Shirley May 22 for Striped College Extension Club members at the home of Mrs. Oliver Richwine. Mrs. Wilbur Garrett was assistant hostess.

Mrs. Shirley said the food bill of the average family is usually about one-fourth of the income. Choosing food wisely means selecting kinds that, together, supply all nutrients in the amounts needed for health and growth.

Devotions were given by Mrs. E. C. Stevens.

Mrs. N. E. Siegel gave a report on fire safety. She asked members to fill out blanks stating number of buildings and types of water supply on each farm. She also told some causes of fires and what to do in case of fire.

A report on family life was given by Mrs. E. C. Stevens.

Sixteen members, five children and two guests, Mrs. Walter Gerds and Mrs. Lester Sprinkles, were present.

The next meeting will be June

Quacking Duck Found In Corner Mailbox

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Making his morning rounds Monday, postman Herbert Cosen was bowled over by a quacking in a corner mailbox.

He unlocked the box and pulled out a full-grown white duck, friendly as could be.

"I've found kittens, puppies, dead fish, even pizza pies, in these boxes, but never before a live duck," said Cosen.

A woman came by to mail a letter, and the duck trailed after her. She called the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and the duck wound up in the society's pool for stray fowl.

Mating Calls Might Be Used by Fishermen

LONDON (AP)—Artificial mating calls may one day tempt fish into the nets, the second world fishing gear congress was told Monday.

Dr. Donovan B. Finn, fisheries director of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, said much still had to be learned about behavior patterns of fish.

Discovering the sounds that fish make when they are feeding or mating is an aspect now under study. Dr. Finn suggested that tactics similar to the use of artificial mating calls in wild game hunting might one day be used in fishing. Then, he said, it might well be possible to detect fish by unmanned apparatus, to herd them like cattle, to fence them in and harvest them at will.

Boxes of Metal
Rings Found On
Floor of Ocean

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Fifteen small boxes of metal rings, repair parts carried aboard many U.S. Navy ships, have been recovered from the ocean floor by a ship searching for the lost submarine Thresher, Atlantic Fleet Headquarters reported today.

The parts, called "O rings," were recovered by the Lamont laboratory ship Conrad Monday as she worked with drag lines "in the area of prime interest," a fleet spokesman said.

The nuclear sub Thresher went down April 10 during a test dive with 129 men aboard 220 miles off Boston.

Capt. Frank A. Andrews, task group commander for on-scene operations in the Thresher search, left the search area Monday on the destroyer Dupont for a conference at Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution with a technical advisory group from the office of the chief of naval operations.

The conference will make recommendations for future operations to Vice Adm. E. W. Grenfell, commander of the Atlantic Fleet Submarine Force.

Stella E. Fischer, 202 East 10th, was injured about 2 p.m. today when struck by a car at Ninth and Ohio. The car was driven by Roger McClung, 16, 2903 Southwest Blvd.

McClung was westbound on Ninth and had begun negotiating a left turn onto Ohio when the Fischer woman was struck.

Jerry Houchens, 23, of Warrensburg, was injured about 2:30 a.m. Tuesday morning when his westbound 1962 Mercury Comet left the road a mile and a half east of Knob Noster on Highway 50.

The Highway Patrol said Houchens apparently went to sleep at the wheel, drove off the right side of the road, the car went down an embankment and overturned.

Houchens was taken to Warrensburg Medical Center with a fractured left leg and multiple abrasions. He was reported in fair condition shortly before noon Tuesday.

Police Reports

Stan Schultz, 2407 Margaret, reported Monday that someone stole his bicycle from where it was parked at Convention Hall.

Danny Brown, 513 South Osage, reported Monday that he ran out of gasoline near Marshall Junction, and parked his car beside the road. He walked to the junction to obtain gasoline, he said, and when he returned to his car he saw another car leave the scene at a fast rate of speed. He obtained the description and license number of the car, which he gave to the police.

Brown reported that a tire and wheel were missing from the car, and that someone had tried to pry the radio out of the car.

Police Court

Harvey Walters, 2119 South Engineer, charged with making loud and unnecessary noise with a motor vehicle, failed to appear and the disposition of the case was not immediately known.

Paul W. Buso, 409 East Harvey, charged with careless and imprudent driving by attempting to drag race with another car at excessive speed, and by "spinning" into the front end of a car, pleaded guilty and was fined $25.

Kenneth R. Moore, 17, California, charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverage, pleaded innocent, but was found guilty and fined $75.

Frank H. Muzzy, Cleveland, Okla., charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverage, pleaded innocent, but was found guilty and fined $75.

William James Hemker, Terry Hotel, charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverage, forfeited his $75 bond.

The case of Milton W. Irwin, 906 West Seventh, charged with leaving the scene of an accident, on complaint of Walter Czerwony, was dismissed on request of the complaining witness.

Enrollment Problem Is Amplified

Neil Freeland, University of Missouri assistant director of admissions, told Sedalia Rotarians of the enrollment problem which faces the universities and colleges of Missouri in the next 12 years at the regular meeting of the Club Monday noon at Hotel Bothwell.

According to Freeland, the 1958 Missouri population in the 18 to 22-year age group was 254,000. By 1975, this number will become 390,000. In 1962, 60,060 students were enrolled in Missouri schools of higher learning and this figure will become 111,150 by 1975.

Freeland told of the need for greater research in Missouri colleges and universities if our state is to attract a greater volume of industry. He stated that the eastern and western states had been successful in attracting industry because of the research programs carried on in universities and colleges in those areas.

Freeland stated that present projections pointed to a growth in population in the United States from the present 186-million to over 400-million in the next forty years. A continued migration is expected from rural areas to urban areas during this period, and the average salary for the working person is projected at $15,000 annually. He stressed the need for higher education in order to be able to compete for jobs.

The speaker was presented by Merle Vaughan, director of Pettis County University Extension Center. Vaughan was introduced by Kelly Williams, May program chairman.

A native of Kirksville, Freeland received his undergraduate degree from the State Teachers College there and took his graduate work at the University of Missouri where he received his degree in Educational Administration. As assistant director of admission he has been in charge of

After Remodeling

Touch of French Riviera At 'New' Broadway Lanes

A touch of the French Riviera delighted the large crowd that attended the opening of newly remodeled Broadway Lanes held Saturday night, May 25. Upon entering at the right is a glass enclosed room with a lovely fountain on either side of which are cherub statues and here, too, a beautiful white chair upholstered in red velvet. At the back of the bowling lanes is the long row of tables and chairs, each group enclosed with wrought iron grille in white and gold. At each opening is a lighted lamp and a sign with "Versailles" and other like names of French places.

The chairs at the tables in each square enclosure are white and gold wrought iron frames, beautifully styled with grape design and upholstered in lovely gold metallic fabric. The tables, too, are white with antiqued gold wrought iron legs. The carpet is a gray beige background, with medallion designs in black. The walls are gray touches of beige here and there and ornamental gold decorations.

A large crowd was present for the opening and the women were given rain hats as they entered as favors.

At the organ was Gene Young, and throughout the evening Carl Bopp, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bopp, entertained with selections on the accordion.

Fran Tray served as master of ceremonies and introduced Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thompson and sons, owners of Broadway Lanes, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cramer, parents of Mrs. Thompson, and co-owners; Mr. Thompson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Thompson, D. Kelly Scruton, sports editor of the Democrat-Capital, Robert Mc-

Curdy, past president of the Missouri State Bowling Association and Mrs. Margaret Whitfield, bowling instructor.

Fashions from Connor-Wagoner's were modeled by Cammie and Ike Roose, Michael Lee, Sherry Fingland, Diane DeWitt, Linda Hall, Barbara Beard, Ann Whitaker, Jill Ragland, Christina Roose, Naomi Jackson, Jackie Peace and Carol Burris.

These were clothes for young women and children for all occasions, for recreation of all kinds, in plaids, stripes and even a blouse and shorts with an all over red rose design. Pretty, airy dresses with full and pleated skirts, and shift styles, in easy to care for summer materials. There were party dresses, a full skirted dress of lavender heavily embroidered and a waltz length formal with sequins. Completing the dress-up costumes sailor hats and hats with flower trim, and accessories in white or beige.

From Mullin's Men's Wear, Leon Hall Jr., Leon Hall Sr., Tom Delph and Mike Racunas. Among the fashions modeled by this group were spring and summer dacron and mohair suits, light weight wools, and a sports jacket in brown and white checks worn with brown slacks.

Winners in the drawing of gifts offered from Connor - Wagoner's and Mullin's Men's Wear were: Floyd Esser, Marty Ford, Earl Dallis, Mrs. Jack Shoemaker, A. D. Jerken, Jeanie Thomas, Pat Wasson, Mrs. Don Potts, A. L. Weller, Washington, D.C., Sharon Grother, Elizabeth Emery, Beverly Morris, Jewell Kidwell, Mrs. Robert Armstrong, Bob Fingland, Leonard Buchholz, Dan Edwards, Shirley Kidwell, Diane Purviance, Ken Leslie, Darrell Edmunds, Mrs. Joe Wilson, Shelly Morris, Mrs. Leonard Labaugh, Larry Williams and Pat Belsha.

Class of 1963 Graduated at Bunceton High

Baccalaureate services for the senior class of Bunceton High School were held May 19 in the school auditorium. The sermon was given by the Rev. Melvin Stroud, Jr., Columbia.

Commencement exercises were held May 21 in the school auditorium.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Robert Streeter.

Dr. Warren C. Lovering, president of Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, was guest speaker and was introduced by Superintendent G. W. Lowe.

Superintendent Lowe gave the following awards: Betty Crocker Homemakers Award, Audrey Kenworthy; curators scholarship, Miss Kenworthy; industrial arts scholarship, Lloyd Bishop; valedictorian, Miss Kenworthy; salutatorian, Marianne Cole; music, Miss Cole; girls' athletics, Miss Kenworthy; boys' athletics, Maurice Miles; citizenship, Miss Cole; activities, Mary Ann Lowe; leadership, J. W. Watring.

The class was presented by Superintendent Lowe and diplomas were given by Leroy Kahle, president of the board of education.

Mr. Streeter gave the benediction. Members of the class were: Vivian Birdsong, Lloyd Bishop, Bobby Brandes, Marianne Cole, Charlene Dilthey, Jan Fancier, Billy Hammond, Audrey Kenworthy, Janet Lenger, Mary Ann Lowe, Maurice Miles, Robert Miles, Jim Oerly, Donna Streeter and Jack Watring.

Class officers were: Jack Watring, president; Jan Fancier, vice-president; Marianne Cole, secretary; Audrey Kenworthy, reporter; Shelby Siegel, sponsor.

The president, Jack Watring, presented Coach Maloney, who is leaving to teach at California, with a gift from students.

Bethlehem Cemetery Annual Homecoming

The annual homecoming and basket dinner will be held at Bethlehem Cemetery, one mile south and a fourth mile west of Marshall Junction, on Thursday, Memorial Day.

A business meeting will be held during the afternoon.

TO EUROPE — Miss Peggy Alexander, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Alexander, 1016 West Broadway, has been awarded a scholarship to study contemporary European history and German at the University of Vienna in Austria for one year. Selected from national competition on the basis of academic achievement and faculty recommendation, her trip will be supervised by the Institute of European Study, Chicago. A 1961 graduate of Smith-Cotton High School, Peggy is a sophomore at the University of Missouri in the college of arts and science. She is active as philanthropy chairman of Alpha Phi sorority, SNEA, Savitar layout staff, and the Student Union music committee.

Mrs. Bernard Dotson Talks of Buying Food

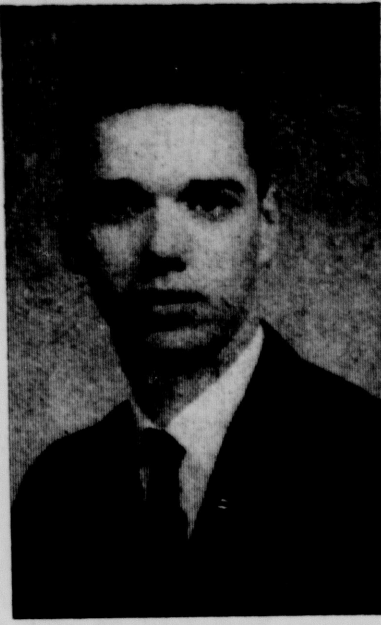

Mrs. Bernard Dotson, guest speaker of Houstonia Extension Club, May 24, spoke on buying food.

Mrs. Carl Kreisel presided. Roll call was answered with food shopping problems encountered by members. Mrs. Kathryn Zimmerman's letter was read by Mrs. Everett Blackburn. Secretarial gifts were received.

Mrs. Dotson and her two children were guests.

The next meeting will be June 20 at Mrs. Harry Baker's home.

The lesson, "Food Facts and Folklore," will be given.

CMS GRADUATES — A. J. Heck, Jr., (left), son of Mr. and Mrs. Alva J. Heck, 2201 South Grand, who was graduated from Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, May 25. Danger in Viewing Eclipse

Two more eclipses of the moon and one of the sun are scheduled for the balance of 1963. One of each has occurred already.

The World Almanac is authority for information there will be a partial eclipse of the moon July 6, unlikely to be seen in Central Missouri. A total eclipse will occur December 30 with the beginning and end visible in North America.

There will be a total eclipse of the sun July 20 visible in Alaska, Canada and the state of Maine. Sedalians will see it only partially providing the sky is clear.

Although eclipses are fascinating to watch, those of the sun can be harmful to unprotected eyes. We suppose an old popular practice of viewing a solar eclipse still prevails—using smoked glass, sunglasses or exposed photographic film. This is not safe at all because of possible damage to the eyes. Certainly, then, the sun under normal conditions is too bright to view.

However, during an eclipse enough light is blocked out to permit easy observation. "This," according to Dr.

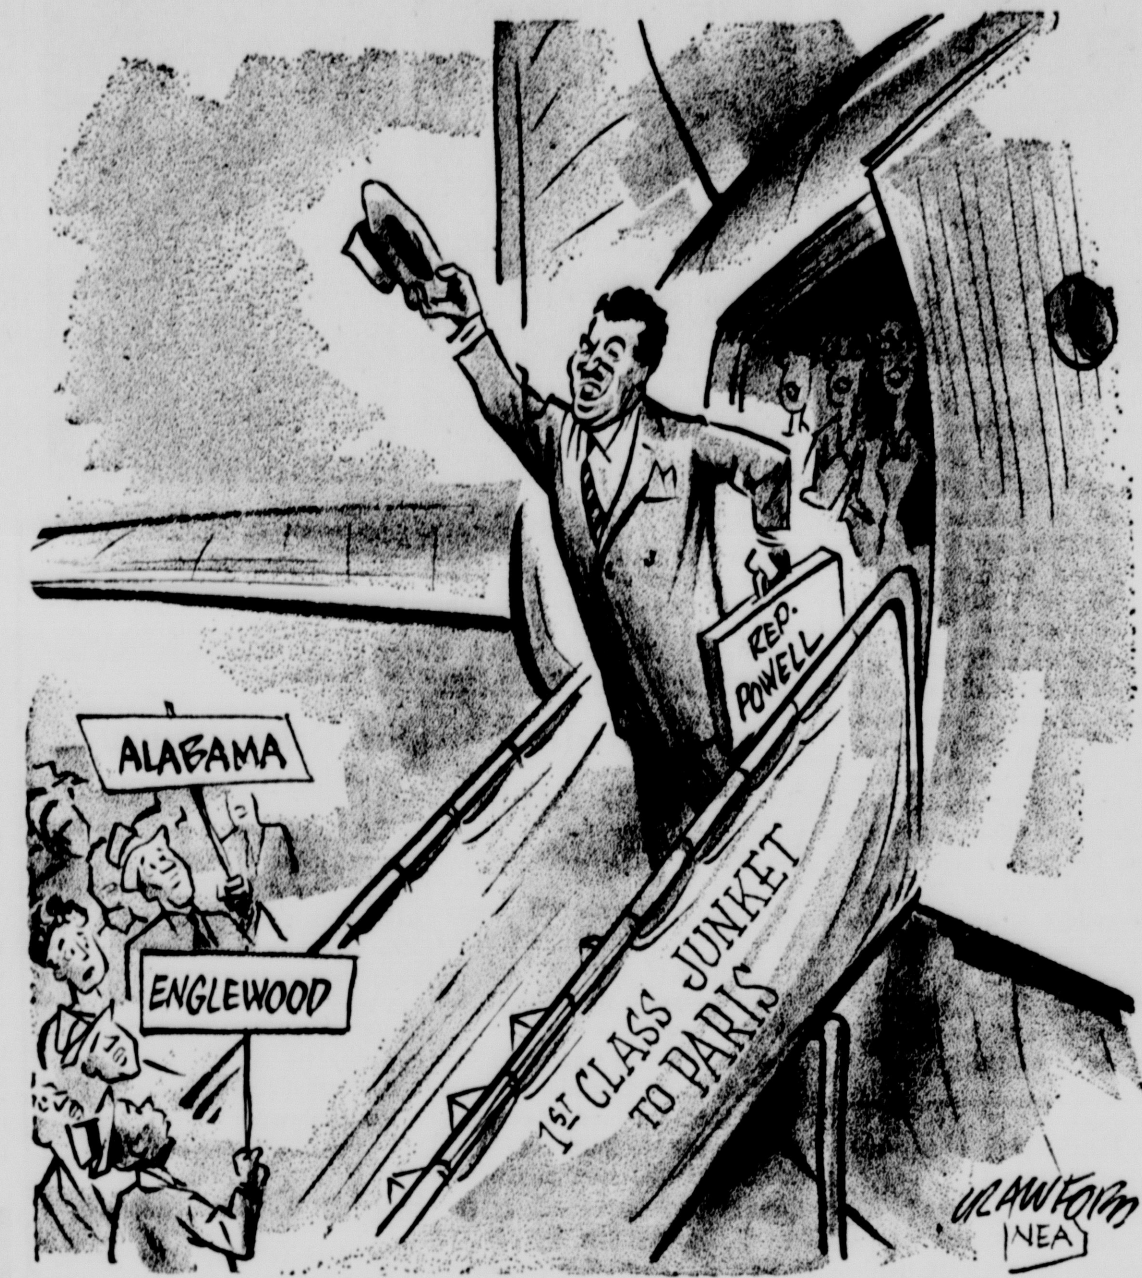

John W. Farree, executive director of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, "is when the sun's rays do their damage—unnoticed, because the retina is not sensitive to pain."

Since the next eclipse will occur July 20 it is not too soon for parents to caution their children about the harm to the eyes that can come by sun-gazing. No safe method exists of looking directly at the sun without risking burns or even eye damage by using smoked glass, sun glasses or film.

There is a safe way to do it that will add to the fascination of viewing an eclipse—a simple device made by punching a tiny round hole in a sheet of cardboard so the sun's ray can be focused through the hole onto another piece of cardboard with similar surface. Look only at the reflection on that second sheet.

Here is a do-it-yourself safety device that should be prepared in advance of the partial eclipse. Used properly when the time comes it will prevent eye damage to you, your friends or children.

Segregation In a Triple Squeeze

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Racial segregation in the South is being smashed in a triple squeeze by the Supreme Court, the Kennedy administration and Negroes themselves demonstrating against discrimination.

The court Monday dealt a deadly blow to exclusion of Negroes from parks, playgrounds or other public facilities. And it clearly showed it is getting tougher about delays in desegregating public schools.

Only a week ago the court banned any attempt to exclude Negroes from places catering to the public—like restaurants or department stores—when the exclusion is imposed by state or city law or official orders.

The court has not yet ruled on whether proprietors of places catering to the public can on their own and without compulsion from laws or officials—keep Negroes out.

More and more this year Negro demonstrations are persuading white segregationists in the South to remove their racial bars.

The Kennedy administration has been pushing harder. For example: sending troops into Alabama to be used, if necessary, to prevent riots in Birmingham.

The same troops can be used next month to enforce a court order—that two Negroes be admitted to the University of Alabama—if the governor, George C. Wallace, tries to carry out his threat to defy the court.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy met with owners of Southern movie theaters Monday to tell them to begin solving their desegregation problems by working on them on a town-by-town basis.

Monday the Supreme Court put the finishing touches on Gov. Wallace's appeal to prevent Kennedy from using troops in Alabama. The court unanimously rejected his request.

The court's ban on segregation in public facilities—written by Justice Arthur J. Goldberg—was as tough as anything the court has said on the racial issue since it banned public school segregation in 1954.

The case happened to involve Memphis parks and playgrounds and swimming pools. But it applies equally to all cities. Memphis has desegregated only some of its facilities.

It wanted to wait until 1971 to desegregate them all. The court said: Do it now. Memphis had argued that desegregating all the facilities at once might cause racial strife and riots.

The court said that argument isn't good enough. It said "the compelling answer to this contention is that constitutional rights may not be denied simply because of hostility to their assertion or exercise."

To put it another way, the court was saying: the fact that white people might resent desegregation isn't enough excuse.

The Supreme Court had previously declared: "Law and order are not to be preserved by depriving Negro children of their constitutional rights."

And, the court said in effect, a city can't postpone desegregation of parks and playgrounds with the argument that Negroes have enough of these facilities to meet their needs.

"It is segregation by race that is unconstitutional," the court said.

It added this about the Negroes' desegregation efforts in Memphis: "The rights here asserted are, like all such rights, present rights; they are not merely hopes for some future enjoyment of some formalistic constitutional promise."

"The basic guarantees of our Constitution are warrants for the here and now, and, unless there is an overwhelmingly compelling reason, they are to be promptly fulfilled."

In this last sentence the court was saying that there may be some situations involving a city's facilities which were so unusual that the court might permit delay in desegregation—but they'd have to be extraordinary.

While the court banned public school segregation in 1954 it left unanswered that year the question: How fast? It gave the answer in 1955: "With all deliberate speed."

This, because the problems of public schools are vast and varied, made room for some states and cities and districts to go slower than others. But in Mississippi and Alabama there is still not a single elementary public school desegregated.

That's pretty slow. That the justices are getting impatient with the slowness could be read into their decision in the Memphis case when they referred to the public school problem.

Goldberg said that policy of "all deliberate speed" doesn't apply to state colleges or universities—clear warning the court will back admission of Negroes to all of them—and does not apply to public facilities, like playgrounds.

The court said it is far from clear that the doctrine of "all deliberate speed" laid down in 1955 "would today be fully satisfied by types of plans or programs for desegregation of public educational facilities which eight years ago might have been deemed sufficient."

Does that mean Mississippi and Alabama will now have to desegregate their schools faster than would have been the case eight years ago? The court didn't say so specifically. It will have to speak plainer later. But there's no doubt the court is getting fed up on delays and excuses for delays.

Sweet Tooth Is Giving Headache to Candymakers

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON — Now you take candy. Everybody can understand candy, and most everybody likes it.

Candy is either an energy food, or it makes you fat, depending on how much you eat. But it is fraught with no economic or international significance.

That's what you think! But 3,000 candymakers and their suppliers, assembled in Washington for the 80th annual convention of the National Confectioners Assn. didn't come here to compare products in 2,000 exhibits or to swipe each other's recipes.

Their program was a cram course in business, foreign trade, tariffs, world agriculture production, food and drug administration, legislation, congressional and other government relations.

There's one candymaker in Congress, by the way. He's William Brock 3rd, R-Tenn., of the Brock Candy Co. family in Chattanooga.

You would never think you could pack so much trouble into a box of candy until you listen to Douglas S. Steinberg of Chicago, president of the candymen's association.

There are about 2,000 candymakers in the country, but most of them are what they call "mom and pop" kitchens and stores. About 250 of the big boys make 85 per cent of the 3.2 billion pounds of candy sold last year. (About 17.5 pounds per capita, if you got your share.)

About a third of the sales were candy bars, most of which sold for five cents apiece. But the sad news is that the five-cent candy bar may be on the way out—along with the nickel itself, since there's not much left you can buy with it.

The size of the nickel candy bar can't be reduced much more or it will begin to compete with the two-cent candy bites which are being sold in increasing quantity to catch the spare pennies left over after you've paid sales taxes on other purchases.

And if the quality of the candy bar is reduced by using substitutes or additives, there may be trouble with Food and Drug Administration. So the 10-cent candy bar seems inevitable.

It's all due to the two million-ton shortage in world sugar supply and consequent higher prices. From 1957 to 1959 raw sugar sold for two cents a pound, even though it cost four cents a pound to produce. There were seven million tons in reserve. That has all disappeared now, and the price is 10 cents a pound.

Why? Cuba. This puts the candy bar right in the middle of the international situation. Under Castro's Communist prosperity paradise, Cuban sugar production has fallen from 6.5 million tons to an estimated 2.9 million tons for this year and an estimated 1.9 million tons for next year.

In 1961 Russia signed a five-year contract with Cuba to take 4.8 million tons of sugar a year at four cents a pound, 20 per cent cash, 80 per cent in barter goods, like missiles.

Russia hasn't dumped any of this sugar on the world market at today's high prices, because it is sold to Russian people for 30 to 35 cents a pound.

Before Russia got the Cuban sugar, it charged its people 50 cents a pound for its domestic beet sugar production. Last year Russia produced 6.75 million pounds of beet sugar, making it the world's largest producer.

The state sugar industry profits of from 500 to 1,000 per cent—which no capitalist country would dare mark up—have more than paid for the entire Russian agricultural program.

American candymakers naturally are interested in what can be done to increase world sugar supplies and get the price down. This gets them into congressional relations on foreign trade and sugar legislation. Department of Agriculture and presidential regulations on sugar quotas. Possible actions are temporary suspension of import restrictions, import taxes and processing taxes on domestic beet and cane sugar production.

In the opinion of sugar experts none of these actions will lower sugar prices, which are based solely on world supply and demand. And it will take years to build up new supplies.

What all this points up again is that practically every industry in the country now has to look to Washington for guidance and help—even to make a candy bar.

We the Women

Beauty for Beauty's Sake Can Be Will-o'-the-Wisp

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Why is beauty so important to a woman?

Dr. Marynia F. Farnham, well-known psychiatrist, says a woman's need to be beautiful is based on fear—"fear of being left, lost and unloved with nothing."

If that's true, it's a pretty foolish fear. For beauty alone doesn't guarantee a woman that she won't be "left, lost, and unloved with nothing."

If it did, the world's great beauties would automatically be the most-loved, the happiest, and the most secure women in the world. They seldom are.

While thousands of plain and even homely women were enjoying a happy evening with the man of the moment or the man of a lifetime, one Saturday night the beautiful Marilyn Monroe, alone and lonely, took her own life.

Even among those who don't move in the glare of publicity, many a plain Jane surrounds herself with love and security while a beautiful friend or sister never seems able to find similar happiness and devotion.

Beauty of face and figure can make life pleasant and gay and easy for a girl—and perhaps can make life pleasant and gay and easy for a girl—and, perhaps, can even assure her of being able to marry the man she chooses.

But beauty alone can't keep his love, or guarantee the girl that she will never be "left, lost and unloved."

A woman earns happiness, security, love and friendship by the kind of person she is, by how much she gives of herself to others, not by what she looks like.

The desperate struggle so many once-beautiful girls make to hold on to their fading beauty (if they are doing it from fear of being left "unloved with nothing"), is a pitiful struggle, doomed to failure.

To be loved, a woman doesn't have to be beautiful. She does have to be lovable, which is an entirely different thing.

DEAR POLLY—To make buttons stay on longer and prevent holes, place a straight pin horizontally on the cloth. Place the button on the small bit of cloth between the head and point of the pin. After taking a few stitches, wrap the thread around the pin several times where cloth and shank meet. Now remove the pin. This is especially good for children's clothes.

DEAR POLLY—It dawned on me one day when I was ready to wash my kitchen floor and the mop had dried stiff that the fabric softener I had been using for sweaters might help. It was most satisfactory and I now rinse my mop in the fabric softener and when I use it, it has dried out nice and soft.

Sarnoff Shoots at Satellite Dilemma

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Gen. David Sarnoff, chairman of the RCA and one of the most experienced communications experts in the USA, has thrown a blockbuster into the Communications Satellite Corporation. He has written a letter to Leo Welch, chairman of the corporation, raising grave doubts as to whether the satellite is worth developing under the present setup.

Coming from a man who has spent 17 years in communications and who made radio and television a way of life in the U.S., the Sarnoff letter has had more effect than a Senate filibuster. If it had been written at the time Senators Kefauver, Gore, Gruening, Burdick et al were fighting against the satellite corporation bill, it would not have passed.

The Sarnoff letter so far is confidential. However, this column can reveal that he makes the following points:

1. Transistorized cables, now being developed by American Tel and Tel will carry double the existing transoceanic traffic and will handle all TV signals and other traffic for some time to come.

2. The present telephone and cable companies will not use the satellite because they already have money invested in their own cable facilities; so they will not spend extra money to use the satellite.

3. The most practical solution to the satellite dilemma is to organize one large private company, under government regulation, to operate all the present cables, all radio circuits, and all future satellite communications.

Doubts About Future

The Sarnoff letter comes at a time when other directors of the satellite corporation, a private company set up by the Kennedy administration, have had growing doubts about their over-glamorized establishment.

It also comes at a time when thousands of letters have been received from private investors wanting to know when they can invest in the new company. If the Sarnoff letter and the private view of several directors are any criteria, it will be a long time before the corporation will merit a public stock issue.

The Sarnoff letter was written in reply to an inquiry by Satellite Chairman Welch, asking for Sarnoff's views. In his unpublished letter, Gen. Sarnoff quoted statements by Fred Kappel, head of AT&T, also James E. Dingman, vice president of AT&T, that new transistorized cables would provide 720 telephone circuits alone, and that "one transistorized cable laid across the North Atlantic could connect areas possessing 90 per cent of the world's present telephones."

"One new transistorized cable will have a

SAN MATEO (Calif.) TIMES: Education's

Higher Purpose.—In his inaugural address as president of Columbia University Teachers College, Dr. John H. Fischer said some things about progressive education which would have been considered heretical in the days when the institution he now heads was known as the cradle of progressivism.

"What a child can do and what he should be doing are not necessarily the same," said Dr. Fischer. "Indeed, much so-called progressive teaching came under fire and has been largely abandoned precisely because children too often did merely what they could rather than what was good for them to do."

President Fischer went further in his discourse, however, to point educational goals which tend to be forgotten in the debate over teaching methods.

The study of the sciences and the humanities, he said, should be pursued "not to improve our competitive position as a nation, but to improve ourselves as persons. . . . We owe our children more than a promise of technological proficiency or the chance to merchandise American culture overseas."

capacity almost double that of all existing transoceanic cables," Gen. Sarnoff wrote, "and Mr. Dingman has expressed the hope that it will permit a lower cost per channel than the present facilities."

Quoting the Rand report that present and planned conventional cable and radio will be adequate to handle international traffic between now and 1965, Sarnoff continued:

"I believe the satellite corporation is now confronted more seriously by the question of when its operations can reasonably be expected to become profitable."

"On the basis of the present state of development in satellite communications," Gen. Sarnoff continued, "five to ten years may pass before any commercial satellite communications system will be able to offer reliable and continuous service on a global scale."

British Competition

Gen. Sarnoff then pointed out that "in nearly all other countries, government monopolies own and operate their communications systems. . . . Presumably the principal foreign countries will utilize their cable facilities to maximum capacity before diverting any substantial amount of traffic to the American satellite corporation and paying for the use of its facilities."

Summarizing his solution to the difficult problem, Sarnoff said in his unpublished letter:

"We should now consider an amendment to the present law which would enable the satellite corporation to acquire, through purchase, the international telephone and telegraph facilities and operations, both present and planned, of all American carriers."

"The enlarged satellite corporation should continue as private enterprise," Sarnoff argued. "The new organization should operate as a public utility under appropriate government regulation."

Gen. Sarnoff pointed out that this big communications combine would have the advantage of starting on "an immediate and solid revenue base" since the existing U.S. communications companies did a $160,000,000 international business in 1962 and would be doing $350,000,000 by 1970. Furthermore this combine could deal with equal strength with foreign governments.

"The British general post office and its commonwealth partners already operate one of the world's most extensive international communications systems. . . . In the absence of a unified U.S. enterprise, the British might well regain the dominant position they occupied in international communications prior to the first world war."

The Mature Parent

Views Alter Constantly

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

I don't want to write a book because books are permanent things—and the views you read in this column are not. They alter constantly—and I am proud they do.

Some time ago, for example, I wrote: "We teach a child responsibility by teaching him how to be useful to others."

I no longer believe that. I now believe that a child learns responsibility through learning how to be useful to himself, that a toddler's delight in his own power to retrieve the ball which has rolled under the sofa must first be felt before he can feel delight in his power to help us carry groceries from the car.

Indeed, I now think that requiring a child to serve others before he has learned to serve himself is destructive teaching. Had this discarded view of mine been perpetuated between the covers of a book, I should feel most uncomfortable.

In Charles Kingley's classic children's book, "The Water Babies," its young hero is commissioned to undertake a journey to the Other End of Nowhere.

In his travels he comes to a country called Wastepaper Land—the land where are preserved all the books which should not have been written—those written to make money, to gain prestige, to make private truth absolute.

Many child guidance books belong in Wastepaper Land. Many of the views expressed in them later have been rejected by their writers. But they still are being read.

Kindly regard me as a writer who happily writes in water—an element which flows and ebbs, is sometimes muddy and sometimes clear—but moving, always moving.

Finney Fantasy To Be Made Into Cinerama Film

Filming of a book written by Charles Finney, a native Sedalian, will begin in mid-July. Finney, now an editor of the Arizona Daily Star at Tucson, Ariz., wrote "The Circus of Dr. Lao" in the early 1930's. The book is a fantasy and began to receive widespread notice a few years ago when reviewed in the Saturday Review of Literature.

George Pal of MGM, winner of several Oscars, and producer of "The Wonderful World of the Brothers Grimm," will produce Dr. Lao in Cinerama. The principal star, in a multiple role, will be Laurence Harvey, star of "Room at the Top," "Summer and Smoke," "Walk on the Wild Side," and other films.

Finney has written three other books, "The End of the Pavement," a simply plotted book about boyhood days in Sedalia; "Unholy City," another fantasy; and a scientific book on reptiles. His short stories have been published in The New Yorker, Harper's, Paris Review and many other publications.

Dr. Lao was written in Sedalia and at the Lake of the Ozarks in the 30's after Finney had returned from China where he served with the 31st Infantry of the United States Army.

Finney's grandfather founded the Finney Conservatory of Music at Oberlin College in Illinois. His father was the late N. J. Finney, who was with the MKT railroad for many years.

Medical Men Fail

Maury Wills Has Big Fall; Dodgers Renew Flag Effort

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Maury Wills had a great fall, and all the team's medical men have failed to put Maury together again.

That was the problem plaguing the Los Angeles Dodgers today as they faced the indefinite loss of the base-stealing whiz whose bad toe is beginning to cause the club as much concern as did last year's ailment to Sandy Koufax' finger.

While the Dodgers prepared to renew their race for the National League pennant after Monday's open date for all clubs, Wills was undergoing X-ray treatments at a Los Angeles hospital, and facing possible surgery.

Dr. Robert Kerlan, Dodgers' team physician, said Monday that Wills is suffering from calcification of the joint of the second toe on the left foot. He said if the toe does not respond to treatment Wills might have to undergo an operation that would sideline him for three weeks or more.

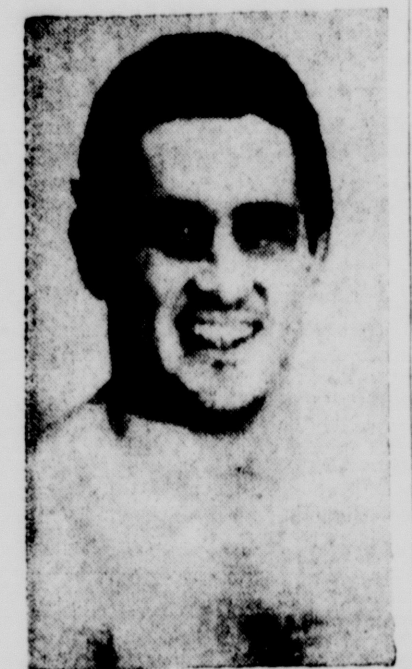

"I will examine him Wednesday and should be able to tell by that time just about how long he may be out of the line-up," said Dr. Kerlan.

Dr. Kerlan is one in a series of medical men who have examined Wills. The Dodgers' shortstop said he saw a hypnotist during the winter because the legs that stole 104 bases last year "ached me, or at least I got it into my head that they ached me."

He had no doubts when he had his great fall on opening day. Sliding into the plate in a game against the Chicago Cubs, he wrenched his ankle. He missed a few games, then came back. Soon after the calcification problem set in, causing darting shafts of pain that inhibited his running.

So far, Wills has missed 13 games. He has hit only .252 and stolen 11 bases. At this stage last year, Wills had stolen 23 bases and was on his way to the Most Valuable Player award.

Eight-Man Battle Set On Mat Card

Steve Bolas

Five action-packed matches—including an eight-man battle royal—will provide the ring fireworks tonight at the Agriculture Building. The free-wheeling program will get underway at 8:15.

In the battle royal, which is sure to produce a wide measure of wild ring antics, these heavyweights are in the lineup: Lee Henning, Larry Hamilton, Steve Kovac, Steve Bolas, Bob Geigel, Sonny Myers and both Masked Medics.

Given the favorite's role because of their addiction to hard-hitting unorthodox tactics are Henning, Hamilton and the Medics.

For the purposes of the battle royal, it will be necessary for a contestant to be tossed over the top rope to be eliminated. Nothing less will do. With this the main stipulation, it will be survival of the fittest. The wrestler with the greatest strength and endurance is generally the one to prevail. That is why the huskies like Henning and Hamilton have been given the pre-match edge.

A battle royal is something just shy of all-out ring warring. Virtually anything is allowed and the contestants take advantage of that fact. That is another reason why the ruffians have the best chance. They are more used to flaunting the rules.

Besides the main event, there'll be four other big matches. In one of them, the veteran Henning is pitted against Bolas. In another, Kovac goes against Medic No. 2. Also matched in separate action are Myers and Medic No. 1, Hamilton and Geigel.

Hawaiian Stamp Brings Record $41,000 Price

NEW YORK (AP)—A two-cent Hawaiian stamp was sold Monday night for $41,000—said to be a record for a single stamp sold at auction.

The stamp, issued in 1851 for use mainly by missionaries, is the only known copy of this particular stamp which had not gone through the mails.

H. R. Hammer, Inc., which sold the stamp, said its price broke a record of almost 40 years. The top previous price, the firm said, was $32,900 for a one-cent 1856 British Guiana stamp.

The Hawaiian stamp was from the collection of the late Maurice Burrus of Lausanne. It was bought by Raymond Weill, a professional philatelist from New Orleans.

Advertisers Blasting At Show Plugs

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—From time to time most television viewers, including this one, have complained in columns, in letters and in person about the interruptive and distracting flood of promotional plugs for upcoming programs that turn up every half hour on so many television channels.

These low moans were pretty generally ignored. But now, it appears, this clutter, as it has been called, is getting attention in the right places. Some television advertisers have been blasting away at it, claiming among other things that all this listing of plugs, credits, billboards and coming-next-week bits has the effect of watering down the expensive sales messages.

At a recent meeting of the Association of National Advertisers, an executive of a company that invests large sums in television, reported that a committee monitoring programs on three networks found that periods as long as 10 minutes were entirely occupied by what were called "non-entertainment segments."

Most viewers, it is safe to assume, pay scant attention to those long lists of credits which list everyone connected with the program right down to the make-up man and hair stylist.

Second thoughts on the "Emmy Awards" show:

Joey Bishop proved to be brighter, funnier and more endearing as a program m.c. than on his own NBC situation comedy. So how come, after originally tapping him to head up his own comedy variety hour next season, NBC abandoned the idea and will give "The New Joey Bishop Show" still another season?

There was a bit of irony, in the awards to two performers, Kim Stanley and Glenda Farrell, for parts they played in one ABC "Ben Casey" episode called "A Cardinal Act of Mercy."

Miss Stanley was voted the outstanding actress in a leading role and Miss Farrell as the outstanding actress in a supporting role. Neither is a regular member of the "Ben Casey" cast, yet they accounted for two out of three Emmys awarded ABC. The other was for the camera work of "Naked City."

With all of the panel and game shows turned out by the packaging firm of Goodson-Todman—510 hours of television this season alone, somebody counted up—it was a non-G-T program, "College Bowl," the Sunday afternoon high level quiz show which won the industry vote as "best."

Although some of the awards were a bit puzzling (Shirley Booth of "Hazel" as outstanding actress in a series for the second year in a row, for example) it would be hard to quarrel with the overall results of the voting.

Arthur Godfrey, who has been hankering for the chance for a longer but had CBS contract problems, finally gets his chance to host NBC's "Tonight Show" for a week (June 3-7) while Johnny Carson takes a holiday.

Recommended tonight: "Here's Edie," ABC, 10:30-11 (EDT)—last in Edie Adams' series of short musical variety programs, with Dick Shawn and Andre Previn.

He will succeed Don Thomasson, who has taken a coaching post in Iowa.

Tentative Date For Safety Check

A tentative date was set by the Drag-On's Monday night for their NHRA safety check. It will take place on a Sunday in June, but no definite date was established. Further plans were made for the club members to attend the national drag strip events in Indianapolis.

Tony Lema Enjoying His New Status

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Tony Lema enjoyed his new status as second leading money winner on the circuit today after winning the $50,000 Memphis Open golf tournament.

The lanky San Leandro, Calif., veteran pocketed $9,000 Monday after winning a sudden-death playoff with Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga., who drew $4,600.

The victory put Lema in second place in winnings this year behind Jack Nicklaus who won $1,400 in this tournament for 11th place.

Lema won top money on the first hole of the playoff with a par four to Aaron's bogey. The two had ended the regulation 27 holes deadlocked at 10 under par 270.

With Aaron leading by two strokes after 16 holes, Lema tied it up with two straight birdies. The first came when a tee shot fell near the pin on the par three 17th hole. The clincher followed when he reached the green of the 500-yard 18th in two strokes.

Both sprayed their tee shots on the playoff hole. Lema's second shot hit the fringe of the green and he was down in two. Aaron's also hit the fringe but his next one went over the green into a sand trap.

The playoff was the fourth in the tournament's six years. Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La., won last year's version in a playoff with South Africa's Gary Player and Gene Littler of Rancho Bernardo, Calif.

It was the first tournament victory for Lema since the Mobile open last November and the third official win of his five years on the tour.

Lema and Aaron entered the last round deadlocked in a tie for second at 202. Each scored 68 on the last 18 holes. Lema's card was 67-67-68-68. Aaron's was 69-67-66-68.

Harold Kneace of Aiken, S.C., finished in a tie for third with Bruce Crampton of Sydney, Australia, at 274. Gary Player was fourth with a 275.

The double round Monday was forced by heavy rains which canceled play Saturday and Sunday.

STATE CHAMP—Junior Howser of Kansas City, state modified stock car racing champion, will drive in the Jaycee-sponsored Memorial Day races Thursday at the state fairgrounds. Howser set a new track record in winning the state championship last year at the State Fair and this season is running tops in points on Kansas City circuits. Time trials start at 11 a.m. and races at 1 p.m. on the fair's half-mile track.

Accidents

A rear-end collision at Broadway and Grand about 1:25 o'clock Monday afternoon resulted in injuries to two persons, neither of a serious nature.

Involved was a 1959 Plymouth sedan driven by Ralph O. Linhardt, 18, Route 4, Sedalia, which was headed west on Broadway and a 1956 Ford sedan, driven west by Herbert Henry Witte, 46, Stover.

According to Linhardt he had stopped for the red traffic light and his car was struck from the rear doing considerable damage to the rear end of his Plymouth. Witte did not make any statement to the police. Witte was taken to police headquarters where he was booked for careless and imprudent driving and placed in the city jail.

Witte suffered a cut lip and bruises, but declined medical treatment.

Miss Linda Gauert, 16, a passenger in the Linhardt car, was taken to the Bothwell Hospital where she received treatment from Dr. Don Proctor. She was X-rayed for a sprained neck, and later released from the hospital to go to her home at the Sedalia Motel.

Witte car from the accident and also the Linhardt car away.

Three accidents occurred in Sedalia Monday resulting in injuries to two persons, none believed of a serious nature. Considerable damage resulted to vehicles involved in the various collisions.

A rear-end collision occurred at Broadway and Ohio at 10:12 o'clock Monday morning. The driver of one vehicle complained of pains as a result of the accident.

Involved was a 1959 Dodge sedan driven by Sam W. Tabberer, 72, Kansas City, Kan., and a 1959 Chevrolet sedan driven by Jesse O. Van Pierce, 58, 220 East Walnut. Both vehicles were headed west on Broadway. The right front end of the Dodge car was damaged and the left rear end on the Chevrolet damaged.

Van Pierce complained of bruises.

Two vehicles were in collision at Seventh and Vermont at 12 o'clock noon, Monday in which damage resulted to both vehicles involved.

A 1961 Ford sedan was driven east on Seventh by James Daniel Giokaris, 49, 1123 West Seventh, and a 1954 Ford sedan driven north on Vermont by Albert Raymond Craig, 1501 South Monticau.

The right front end of the Giokaris car was damaged and the left front end of the Craig car was damaged.

Both drivers were given summons to appear in police court May 31.

Mrs. Dora E. Raebler, 71, 1515 West Main Street, suffered painful but not believed serious injuries in a one-car accident at 1315 West Main Street about 10:20 p.m. Monday.

Mrs. Raebler, alone in her car, complained of a chest injury. She was rushed to the Bothwell Hospital in Ewing's ambulance and examined and treated by Dr. T. J. Hopkins.

According to the police report, Mrs. Raebler reported she was headed west on Main Street when a car crowded her off the pavement on the north side of the road. As the car went down into a ditch, she tried to pull it out and a car blinded her coming from the west. Her car came out of the ditch and swerved across the street. She succeeded in going over the south ditch on a driveway, but the left front of her car crashed into a tree.

The left front of her 1949 Oldsmobile sedan was extensively damaged when it struck the tree. The tree had a severe "barked" place on it.

Miss Inman Realtor Of The Year

Miss Nellie A. Inman, Slater, has been chosen as the Missouri's Realtor of the Year by the Missouri Real Estate Association, the first woman in the history of the Association to receive the honor. She has been Vice-President of the Association since 1955.

At the annual dinner of the Association, held at the President Hotel in Kansas City, the past week, she was presented the award. Miss Inman was presented a letter by Clarence M. Turley, Past President of the National Association of Real Estate Boards and Chairman of the Realtor of the Year Committee for 1963.

The letter in part said, "This is the highest honor that can be bestowed upon you by the Realtors of Missouri. This letter shall serve as evidence of your selection until it is replaced by an appropriate plaque.

Miss Inman is the seventh person in Missouri to receive the honor. She has been the Realtor Secretary of the Central Missouri Real Estate Board since it was organized in 1946. This board is composed of members from Carroll, Chariton, Cooper, Howard, Lafayette, Saline and Pettis counties. About three years ago the Pettis County group withdrew from the Central Missouri organization and formed the Sedalia Board of Realtors.

She has been an active member of the Executive Officer's Council of the National Association, the Broker's Institute, serving in many capacities of these organizations. She has been a member of the Realtor's Enlarged Washington Committee since 1951.

Miss Inman has also been active in the Missouri Association of Independent Insurance Agents and in 1954, received the Presidential Citation Award from that group and was the first woman to receive that award. At that time a plaque was presented to her as an outstanding member of the Association. She is an active member of the Slater Chamber of Commerce, active in all community projects and served on the official Board of the Methodist Church. She is a member of the Missouri Society of Washington, D. C., and the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The Central Missouri Real Estate Board plans a formal presentation of the recently awarded honor when it is received.

Miss Inman is well known in Wildenrath, Germany — Air Force Captain Carl D. Miller, Marshall, is participating in NATO's Exercise Royal Flush VIII here this week.

Captain Miller is a pilot permanently assigned to a unit of the 6th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing at Ramstein AB, Germany. Members of the 66th Wing are flying the RF-101 Voodoo, the only supersonic reconnaissance aircraft in the exercise.

The captain, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Miller, Marshall, is a graduate of Marshall High School. He holds a B.A. degree in chemistry from the University of Missouri. His wife is the former Ruth A. Wiley, Marshall.

Royal Flush VIII is being staged to provide reconnaissance training for selected units of the Belgian and Royal Air Forces in competition with German and United States Air Force teams.

Sedalia and is a niece of the late Judge E. W. Weinrich.

Heavilin House Opening Ends This Evening

House of Heavilin, 1716 West Ninth, in the Brinc Building, will be open until 7 p.m. today, completing a two day grand opening. Refreshments, favors and an opportunity to register for awards are offered to all visitors.

George Heavilin has two other schools of hair fashion in Kansas City and a third one will be opened there in early August.

Several courses are open to beginners and professional cosmetologists and hair stylists. Beginners are taught theory through various means: written background, anatomy charts, film in color and narrated by Mr. Heavilin. Practical theory is gained using manikins and practical experience is obtained practicing beauty methods with patrons with the guidance of instructors.

In addition, each student is developed to serve as an employee, as well as a technician. Emphasis is also given to developing the student as a person for the transition from a sheltered home life to the business world. Ethics and attitude are stressed. The student is also encouraged to improve her own personal appearance as well as her technical ability.

Upon graduation, students are given free lifetime placement. One recent graduate, whose husband is stationed in Alaska, has been placed in a beauty salon in Anchorage, Alaska.

Heavilin has his own line of skin care and makeup, used in his schools and salons and for retail distribution. Wigs of human and synthetic hair are also styled and sold by Heavilin.

Mr. Heavilin has won several awards in his field and is a member of the Official Hairfashion Committee. The committee plans seasonal trends in hairstyling.

Roadside Stop Was Sitting On A Gasoline Bomb

LIBERTY, Mo. (AP)—Gasoline has been seeping into the basement of the Manor House, a restaurant, motel and service station.

"That gasoline was a bomb that could have blown this whole place sky high if there had been the least little thing to trigger the explosion," Fire Chief Ralph Cottingham said Monday.

Firemen found an abandoned well had been sealed off beside the basement wall. Gasoline seeped along an old water pipe into the basement.

"The well was about 26 feet deep and 10 feet wide," Cottingham said. "We figured there was about 1,000 gallons of gasoline floating on top of the water to a depth of 28 inches."

Everybody was evacuated from the area while firemen knocked a hole in the wall and pumped the water and gasoline into a nearby lake so the gasoline could evaporate.

Estimate Runs High

50 New 'S' Club Members Installed At Spring Fete

Fifty new Smith-Cotton "S" Club members were installed at the annual Spring Banquet on May 22 at the S-C cafeteria. Fifty nine seniors were eligible to become new members.

Virgil Herrick gave the invocation and Bruce Richey, president, gave some words of welcome. Sara Oswald, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting and they were approved. Pat Wagenknecht discussed a card party and a style show to be held on Sept. 17.

First vice-president Dorothy Herrick presented an amendment to the constitution to the effect that any member not attending the fall banquet would still be able to obtain his yearly activity card provided that he pay an extra dollar over and above his regular dollar of annual dues to the treasurer. The amendment passed.

Richey appointed a constitutional committee to rewrite the constitution of the club during the summer months. Dorothy Herrick, Don Barnes, James Durley, and Don Lamm, Jr. will serve on this committee.

Mrs. Barbara Arnold reported treasury balance on hand of $186. A quarter consisting of Jim McFall, Nick Salmon, Bill McFarland, and Russell Leslie sang "Michael" and "Sloop John B."

Walter E. Diehl, vice-principal, was the speaker of the evening. He reviewed briefly the past year at S-C and some of her future plans. He said S-C has a projected enrollment of close to 1800 students next year. "There will be approximately 350 eighth graders and 420 ninth graders next year," he said.

He indicated that more concentration will be made in the areas of reading measurement and in mathematics. Even greater efforts will be made to work with ticket programs for Smith-Cotton activities next year in which the "S" Club will have a part. Forrest L. Drake, principal, added a few words about these tickets to be offered.

In the installation of new members, Mrs. Margaret Bohon, member of the executive committee, explained that the letter "S," symbol of the club, stood for Sedalia, Smith-Cotton, Seniors, Skill and Service. Bill Arnold explained the meaning of the colors, blue and gold. Special recognition was then given to those S-C students who won the special "S" club awards this year. These students were Randy Short, outstanding senior boy; Kay Rotermund, most outstanding senior girl and most outstanding in vocal music; Mike McLeod, senior athlete with the highest grades; Bill Ferguson, most outstanding senior athlete; Mike Jonson, most outstanding in instrumental music, and Gary Dyer, most outstanding senior boy in debate.

Those new members installed and their respective letter awards were:
